Independence Bank to Build Second Location in Murray

On Wednesday, July 13th, Independence Bank directors, employees and city officials broke ground on what will be a second office where Interstate Batteries is currently located at 721 South 12th Street in Murray. Independence Bank will be utilizing local contractors and subcontractors on the project. Clark Construction Company will begin construction immediately on the 2,250 square foot building that will take approximately 6-8 months to complete. The new building will be similar to Independence Bank's existing Patriot Square location, featuring the signature blue clock tower. The new location will also feature a 38 ft. cupola to compliment Glendale Road Church of Christ across the street. The project is estimated to be completed by April 2017, and the location will be called "Glendale."

"It is exciting to be a part of the Independence Bank revolution as we expand across Kentucky and especially in Calloway County," said Independence Bank President Heidi Shultz. "I am excited to begin the construction on our second location on the south side of Murray. We have an established dedicated team that is ready to meet our customer needs on the residential south side of town."

Independence Bank is a locally owned and operated community bank with 22 locations in Calloway, Daviess, Franklin, Graves, Hancock, Henderson, Hopkins, Jefferson, McCracken, McLean, Warren and Webster counties with assets over $1.9 billion.
